Build your successful business with successful products that will have your customers coming back to ask for more. 4Life Transfer Factor® products are consumable, patented, and scientifically proven to work. They're completely unique, providing you and your customers with a healthier lifestyle through enhanced immunity.

"For a competitive edge, I take 4Life Transfer Factor."

—Johnny Miller,

and NBC Sports Analyst

Transfer Factors are a class of messenger molecules that provide valuable immune information to help your immune system better recognize, respond to, and remember potential health threats. These memory molecules are derived from colostrum—nature's first supplement—and are the first nutrient you receive when you are born. Nature knows best what your body needs and these easy-to-sell products provide an effective level of health support unlike anything else.

A recent clinical study showed that 4Life Transfer Factor products boost the production of the antibody IgA by an average of 73%. Another study revealed a 437% increase in the activity of natural killer cells.
